

Introduction

Is this course for you?
Course structure and content.

Important

The content within this course, IT Contracting Bootcamp, is provided for information purposes only. UK contractors operate within various regulations and tax laws, and It is important that you familiarize yourself with these. In particular, the advantages, disadvantages and legal responsibilities associated with limited company ownership should be well understood.

I would certainly suggest that advice is taken from a financial and legal point of view before making any decisions in this area.
